AXA Climate School: Free Online Programme for Preparing for Climate Transition

Climate change is widely regarded as the top risk facing humanity today, with far-reaching impacts across the globe. According to the Hong Kong Trade Development Council ESG Index 2025, nearly 90% of surveyed businesses indicated that ESG considerations are integral to their overall decision-making process. A comprehensive understanding of climate change has become an essential skill for future leaders.

This year, AXA Climate School returns with a more business-focused learning path, offering free Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) training specifically designed to equip you with practical knowledge to identify the impacts of climate change and drive climate adaptation and transition within business settings.

Upon completion of the Mandatory Courses, you will receive an e-Certificate that adds value to your resume and helps showcase your qualities as a global citizen to future employers. Quota is limited on a first-come-first-served basis.
